ABOUT ME

I tend to be introverted at first, but I connect easily with people once we discover shared interests. I'm generally modest, though I become more expressive when discussing things I'm passionate about, such as storytelling and Dungeons & Dragons. I approach new opportunities with a mix of excitement and curiosity, especially when it comes to the people I'll meet and the experiences ahead.

I genuinely enjoy creating, and few things are more rewarding to me than delivering work that truly satisfies a client. I also value honest, personal communication and tend to speak openly and directly. While this straightforward approach may not resonate with everyone, I believe it helps build trust and meaningful professional relationships.

Hobbies Include: Writing, Storytelling, Video Games, Daydreaming, Traveling & Experiencing new Cultures.
